

South Centre Experts Short Biographies

Dr. Germán VELÁSQUEZ is the Special Advisor on Policy and Health of the South Centre. He is the former World Health Organization (WHO) Director of the department on Public Health, Innovation and Intellectual Property. He is the President of the University Chair 'Right to health and access to medicines' at the Complutense University of Madrid. He is the author of numerous publications on health economics and intellectual property and access to medicines. Dr. Velásquez has a Master's in Economics and a PhD in Health Economics from the Sorbonne University, Paris, a PhD Honoris Causa on Public Health from the University of Caldas, Colombia and a PhD Honoris Causa from the School of Medicine of the Complutense University of Madrid.

Ms. Yuefen LI is the Senior Adviser on South-South Cooperation and Development Finance of the South Centre. She was Head of the Debt and Development Finance Branch of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) where she worked for 24 years. She used to teach in the University of International Business and Economics in China. She has published on various issues including development finance, the Chinese economy, international trade and development strategies. Ms. Li got her Master's degree in the American Graduate School of International Management (Thunderbird) and her Bachelor of Arts degree in Beijing Foreign Studies University in China, and she was also a visiting scholar in the London School of Economics (LSE).

Dr. Manuel F. MONTES is the Senior Adviser on Finance and Development and Permanent Observer of the South Centre to the United Nations in New York. He was previously Chief of the Development Strategies and Policy branch at the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UN DESA). Before that he was a Program Officer in International Policy for the Ford Foundation. He had been on the economics faculty at the University of the Philippines. His publications have focused on development macroeconomics and finance. Dr. Montes holds a PhD in Economics from Stanford University.

Ms. Bernarditas MULLER is the Senior Adviser on Climate Change of the South Centre. She was elected as co-chair of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) Standing Committee on Finance (SCF) on March 2017 and was the lead coordinator for finance of the Group of 77 and China (G77) negotiating bloc during the Marrakesh climate talks. She has a long experience in climate negotiations, and has been deeply involved in negotiating UNFCCC decisions such as those that established the Adaptation Fund of the Kyoto Protocol and the Green Climate Fund. Ms. Muller graduated from the University of the Philippines, Sorbonne University in Paris, and the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva.

Dr. Youba SOKONA is the Senior Adviser on Sustainable Development of the South Centre. He was elected Vice-Chair of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) in October 2015 after previously serving as Co-Chair of the IPCC Working Group III for the Fifth Assessment Report, and Lead Author since 1990. He is affiliated with numerous boards and organizations, including as Honorary Professor at the University College London (UCL), Member of the Science Advisory Committee of the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (IIASA), and as a Special Advisor to the African Energy Leaders Group. He has over 35 years of experience addressing energy, environment and sustainable development in Africa. Dr. Sokona has an Engineering PhD in Earth Sciences from the Paris École Nationale Supérieure des Mines and from the Paris Université Pierre et Marie Curie.

Dr. Humberto CAMPODÓNICO is Regional Adviser on Economics and Development of the South Centre. He is a Principal Researcher at the Centro de Estudios y Promoción del Desarrollo (DESCO); a Member of the Advisory Board of the Natural Resources Governance Institute (NRGI); a Fellow of the Rights and Resources Initiative (RRI) and economics columnist at the Peruvian national daily La República. He was Regional Adviser at the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC); Professor and Dean at the Economics Faculty, Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos; President of PETROPERU; Consultant of the Andean Community of Nations, ECLAC, and UNCTAD. He has published several books about mining, energy (oil, natural gas), and international economics and trade.

Mr. Vicente Paolo YU is the Coordinator of the Global Governance for Development Programme (GGDP), and was previously Deputy Executive Director of the South Centre. Prior to joining the South Centre in 2002, he worked for Friends of the Earth International and was the research and policy development director of the Legal Rights and Natural Resources Center in the Philippines. He taught law at the University of the Philippines, and has published articles, papers and other research on, inter alia, energy policy, indigenous peoples rights, multilateral trade policy, climate change policy, South-South cooperation and international environmental policy. He obtained his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of the Philippines, and his master of laws degree (specializing in international trade law and international environmental law) from Georgetown University where he was a Fulbright Scholar.

Dr. Mariama WILLIAMS is Senior Programme Officer of the Global Governance for Development Programme (GGDP) of the South Centre. She is also a director of the Institute of Law and Economics (ILE), Jamaica. She was a member of the Expert Advisory Group for the UN Women Global SDG report Turning promises into action: Gender equality in the 2030 agenda for sustainable development and also served as an assistant Professor of economics at the Fashion Institute of Technology, the State University of New York. She served on a number of board of directors and trustees and a member of a number of steering committees. She is a feminist economist with over 20 years of experience working and publications on economic development and macroeconomic issues, with a focus on gender equality and women's empowerment and social equity, international trade, external debt and finance and more recently on climate change issues. She obtained her B.A. in Economics and Political Science from New York University and her M.A. and Ph.D. from the New School for Social Research in New York.

Mr. Adriano José TIMOSSO is Senior Programme Officer of the Global Governance for Development Programme (GGDP) of the South Centre. Previously, he worked at the Right to Development Section of the United Nations Office of the High Commissioner on Human Rights (OHCHR) and the Unit on Economic Cooperation and Integration among Developing Countries at the Office of the Secretary-General of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD). He works on the UN development pillar issues, the Group of 77 and China (G77), the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM), regional integration, South-South Cooperation and provides some support for outreach and partnership activities of the South Centre. He has a Bachelor degree in Agricultural Science in Brazil and a Post-graduate Diploma in European Studies (DAES) at the European College of Parma, Italy.

Ms. Kinda MOHAMADIEH is Senior Researcher of the Global Governance for Development Programme (GGDP) of the South Centre, where she works on issues relating to international investment governance and the role and accountability of business enterprises with respect to human rights. For nine years, she had worked as Policy Advisor at the Arab NGO Network for Development (Beirut) where she addressed issues relating to development and economic policies in the Arab region. She holds an LL.M. in International Economic Law from the University of Lausanne, a master degree in Public Affairs from the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), and an undergraduate degree in economics. She is currently a PhD candidate at the international law department of the Graduate Institute in Geneva.

Mr. Daniel URIBE is Researcher of the Global Governance for Development Programme (GGDP) of the South Centre. Previously, he served as a public servant in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Ecuador and as a judicial clerk in the Constitutional Court of Ecuador. He completed a 6 months internship at the International Commission of Jurists, where he also worked as Program Officer for the Centre for the Independence of Judges and Lawyers. He is a lawyer from Ecuador where he obtained a Bachelor of Laws LL.B. from the Pontifical Catholic University of Ecuador, where he worked as a volunteer at the Free Legal Clinic of the School of Law. He also holds a Master in Law LL.M. in International Law from the Graduate Institute of Geneva.

Ms. Aileen KWA is the Coordinator of the Trade for Development Programme (TDP) of the South Centre. She was a trade analyst with Focus on the Global South and also worked for the Centre for Environment, Gender and Development. She is a trade negotiations expert and has been working on WTO issues since the First WTO Ministerial Conference in Singapore. Her work has covered, inter alia, agriculture, services, e-commerce and the digital economy, industrialisation policies, development and Special and Differential Treatment, Domestic Regulation in Services, process and transparency issues at the World Trade Organization (WTO) and Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs). She has written extensively on the WTO negotiations including as a co-author of Behind the Scenes at the WTO: The Real World of International Trade Negotiations. She obtained her B.A. and M.A. from the University of Auckland, New Zealand.

Mr. Peter LUNENBORG is Senior Researcher of the Trade for Development Programme (TDP) of the South Centre. He provides policy analysis and advice on trade policies to developing countries and developing country groupings in Geneva as well as to capitals. He closely follows the various negotiations and discussions at the World Trade Organization (WTO), and has worked on Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs) and the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA). Before joining the South Centre, he was a manager at Maersk. He has published, inter alia, in the Ashgate Research Companion to International Trade Policy and the Global Trade and Customs Journal. He has an LL.M. and M.Sc. in Economics from the Erasmus University, Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Dr. Viviana MUÑOZ TELLEZ is the Coordinator of the Development, Innovation and Intellectual Property Programme (DIIP) of the South Centre. Previously to joining the South Centre in 2006, she conducted research at the Queen Mary Research Institute, University of London on non-governmental public action on intellectual property governance. She has also worked in the private sector at Siemens S.A. and as consultant for various international agencies. Her research areas include economics of biomedical innovation, intellectual property, public health and development policy. She holds a Doctorate degree on management of technology from the École Polytechnique of Lausanne (EPFL), Switzerland, and a Master's degree in Development Management from the London School of Economics (LSE).

Mr. Nirmalya SYAM is Senior Programme Officer of the Development, Innovation and Intellectual Property Programme (DIIP) of the South Centre. Prior to joining the South Centre, he served as a researcher at the Centre for Trade and Development in New Delhi where he undertook research and advocacy on intellectual property rights, trade and public health issues in India. He was a visiting Fox International Fellow at the Betty and Whitney MacMillan Centre for International and Area Studies at Yale University in 2006-07 where he researched on participation of developing countries in decision making in international financial institutions from the perspective of the emerging body of global administrative law and the Third World approach to international law. He has also served as an Advocate at the High Court in Calcutta, India. He holds a bachelor's degree in law (LL.B) from the University of Calcutta and a master's degree (M.Phil) in international law from Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi.

Ms. Mirza ALAS PORTILLO is Researcher of the Development, Innovation and Intellectual Property Programme (DIIP) of the South Centre. She joined the South Centre in 2015 to provide research and policy advice to developing countries on antimicrobial resistance and access to medicines issues at the United Nations, World Health Organization (WHO), and the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), to support building capacity on antimicrobial resistance at regional and national level, and enhance participation by the South Centre in relevant networks. Previous to her work at the South Centre, she worked as a health policy researcher with the Third World Network (TWN). She obtained a Bachelor of Arts in Human Ecology from the College of the Atlantic (Maine, USA) with a focus on development studies and anthropology. She then obtained a Master of Public Health (MPH) joint degree conferred by the University of Copenhagen (Denmark) and the University of Sheffield (UK).

Mr. Vitor Henrique PINTO IDO is Researcher at the Development, Innovation and Intellectual Property Programme (DIIP) of the South Centre. Prior to joining the South Centre, he has worked in both the private and public sectors as a researcher and lawyer. He holds a research master's degree in Human Rights (2017) at the University of São Paulo, where he was a Ryoichi Sasakawa Young Leaders Fellow. He also holds a bachelor in Law (2014) and a bachelor in Social Sciences (2018) from the same institution. He is currently a PhD Candidate in Law at the University of São Paulo, Brazil, where he is an affiliated researcher to the Law and Poverty Research Group, as well as to the Centre of Education and Innovation, FGV/SP. His research focuses on the intersection between intellectual property rights and development, with a focus on indigenous peoples' traditional knowledge, access to medicines and innovation and technology policies in the Global South.